

OFFICIAL ANONYMOUS (set to be southered with large ways Official swifters) DDFCC DFLFACE

OFFICIAL ANONYMOUS (not to be confused with 'Anonymous Official' grifters) PRESS RELEASE SEPTEMBER 13, 2021

NOTORIOUS "HACKERS ON ESTRADIOL" PRESENT GRAND REVEAL OF ROB "HITLER SHOULD'VE WON" MONSTER'S EPIK FAILURE

You know, when you name a company "Epik", that implies something really big's going to happen. Deserving of the name.

Well, after years of bolstering the worst trash the Internet has to offer, this is, truly, the Epik moment we've all been waiting for.

Contained within this release, the following delicious morsels that will surely be digested for months to come:

A decade's worth of data from the company. That's right, everybody.

Time to find out who in your family secretly ran an Ivermectin horse porn fetish site, disinfo publishing outfit, or yet another QAnon hellhole.

Want to know when a nation-state decided to offer hosting to some domestic terror groups, without those pesky DDoS mitigating reverse proxies getting in your way? Want to know the identity of the owner of a domain or large set of domains used in yet another influence/information operation? Decloak origin IPs of nazi websites for further investigation, poking, prodding! Map out a decade of online fash with a level of clarity nobody has been able to UNTIL NOW!

WHAT YOU GET FOR THE LOW LOW PRICE OF $0.00

- * All domain purchases
- * All domain transfers in/out
- * All whois history, unredacted
- * All DNS changes
- * All email forwards, catch-alls, etc
- * Payment history (no credit card data, don't get excited, FBI, we're not in that game)
- * Account credentials for:

all Epik customers, hosting, Anonymize VPN, and so on

Epik internal systems, servers

Epik's GoDaddy logins

...and more! IN PLAINTEXT! That's right, Epik barely hashed a damn thing!

When we saw hashes, they were merely unsalted MD5

Here's one such sample that made us upset for daring to use "anon":

Rob Monster anon@epik.com robmonster 109d88a0c4a49217c01a36913b034161 (cracked: willem) Yep, these Russian developers they hired are actually just that bad.

They probably enjoyed snooping through all of your shit just as much as we did.

- * Over 500,000 private keys. What are they for? Who knows!
- * We think we spotted a bunch of Anonymize OpenVPN profiles in this, but we were too disgusted with the above to continue digging.
- * A dump of an employee's mailbox, just because we could.

- * Git repositories for whatever internal applications!
- * SSH keys!
- * /home/ and /root/ directories of one of their core systems!

This dataset is all that's needed to trace actual ownership and management of the fascist side of the Internet that has eluded researchers, activists, and, well, just about everybody. And maybe have a little extra fun. For the lulz.

Is it possible to own a company as hard as this? We sure love to see it. Good luck with the rebrand, Robby boy. Herd u liek mudkipz.

Monero tips for the inevitable legal bills, for when the FBI kicks down OVER 9000 doors after this utterly embarrasses everyone and outs one or more of their poorly thought out stochastic terrorism plots (GOOD LUCK WE'RE BEHIND SEVEN PROXIES)

49fTMEjqSZW5qKrJLwKjJZ2MHVYCbvsPo1ikwtxQTW66V3VTijgtJdFCukcKvvCnX7GYMqfgEVBGeQ4XJ1b6b45SQcfRCaq

Support your starving hacktivists, and they will bless you in turn.

So long, for now! Support #OperationJane and mess with Texas today! Abortion is a human right!

We are Anonymous We are Legion We do not Forgive We do not Forget

The Internet Hate Machine hates fascists.

Signed,

